So bad a breeding had he,

FROM THE PATRIOT.

"Il faut de l'argent beaucoup d'argent,"
As Talleyrand ſaid—or in plain Engliſh,
"MONEY MAKES THE MARE GO."

THE Jack Aſſes of Democracy have given opinions in favor of the Treaty lately concluded with France, without knowing any thing of the contents. At firſt, they ſaid the conſideration money to be paid, was 4 million of dols.—then 8 million—now between 15 and 16 million. Allowing all of the laſt account to be true, let us make a fair eſtimate of loſs and gain.

We have gained an immenſe tract of uncultivated land, when the governmen of the United States have on hand for ſale 235 million of acres, and when there are in the United States 640 million of acres, of which only 38 million are improved.

We have gained the iſland of New Orleans, which is admitted to be an imporportant acquiſition : but not ſo monſtrous a one as is repreſented, because we had previouſly by treaty the right to carry on commerce there, to depoſit produce &c. &c.

We have gained the temporary friendſhip of France and Spain, probably at the expenſe of that of other nations, and eſpecially of one with whom we carry on commerce to nearly double the amount of our commerce with thoſe two nations; becauſe we have expreſsly ſtipulated that no other duties ſhall be impoſed for twelve years on French and Spaniſh ſubjects carrying on commerce in the ports of the Miſſiſſippi, than thoſe paid by the citizens of the United States. This gives theſe nations a preference in trade to other nations, and is in its ſpirit contrary to exiſting treaties. Our treaties with Great Britain, Sweden, &c. contain a clauſe to this effect—That as to commerce theſe nations ſhall be put on a footing with nations the moſt favored, and that if a privilege be granted to another nation it ſhall become common to them. If therefore, the free trade given to the French and Spaniards can be claimed and exerciſed by the Britiſh, Swedes, &c. we have deceived them. If it cannot, we have violated an expreſs contract and ſtipulation, made by ſolemn treaties. The probability therefore, is that Britain, Sweden, &c. will claim a privilege coextenſive with that enjoyed by France and Spain. If we deny it, they will have juſt cauſe of war. If we allow it, the French and Spaniards will charge us with impoſition and deception ; and from the ſpirit always manifeſted by the Firſt conſul, he will not be unwilling to embrace an opportunity to quarrel with us. Upon the whole, therefore, I think we may confidently aſſert, that if there be a clauſe granting excluſive privileges to the French and Spaniards, even for the limited period of twelve years, the conduct of our government is, in its ſpirit, contrary to exiſting treaties. But this is not all.—The excluſive privilege injures the commerce of the United States directly.—French and Spaniſh ſhips come to our ports, and pay no more duties than thoſe of our own citizens. Suppoſe theſe nations are not polite enough to return the compliment, and ſhould impoſe duties on American veſſels in their ports, I ſhould like to know whether we can meet them in market on equal terms. If this be true, as ſtated, our commerce never received ſo fatal a blow.—It is almoſt a death wound.

We pay, for the purchaſe, upwards of 15 million of dollars—That is, Three dollars for every man, women and child in the United States. And why ſhould our rulers be grinding the face of the poor, in purchaſing land which they, nor their children, nor their children's children, to the lateſt generation, will ever in all probability, ſee cultivated.

We pay, for the purchaſe, 15 million of dollars, which is more than all the gold and ſilver coin in the United States, in bank and out of bank, put together ; and it is reaſonable to ſuppoſe that the greater part of our ſpecie will go to France in payment.

We pay 15 million of dollars for the purchaſe of a county, which muſt in a great meaſure be cultivated by ſlaves by American ſlaves.†!!!

* See the diſpatches from our Miniſters in France. "We muſt have money a great deal of money."

† See chancellor Livingſton's Memorial to the French government.

We run in debt to a large amount to a nation that has attacked the independence of half the nations of Europe ; that has declared war againſt the Liberty of the preſs, and all other rational liberty ; and that is now engaged in the moſt ambitious and ruinous projects. Laſtly—we run in debt, and of courſe become in ſome meaſure dependent on a nation which ſcorns all others ; which is governed by the moſt unprincipled tyrants that ever ſwayed the rod of empire ; a nation that has an influence almoſt uncontrolled over the civilized world ; an influence the moſt dangerous and fatal to liberty and which the Americans ought to dread above all things.

PRIZE QUESTIONS.

With the beneficent and laudable view of improving the Art of Medicine, and to excite Practitioners to bring those talents to light which might otherwise be useless to the community, Ward Nicholas Boylston, Esq. hath, by an instrument, under his hand and seal, given to the President and Fellows of Harvard College in Cambridge, bearing date January 20, 1803, empowered and enabled that Corporation to appoint, annually, a Committee skilled in subjects connected with Medical Science ; to propose annually sundry questions upon such medical, anatomical, physiological or chemical subjects, as they may deem most useful, and the several Authors of the best Dissertations, (in the judgment of a majority of said Committee) upon each of said subjects, which shall be transmitted or delivered to them on or before the 20th of Nov. next, after public notice given of said questions, are entitled to receive of the Committee a Prize Medal (or the amount in money at their option) of such value as to said Committee shall seem proper ; Provided the value of all the Medals distributed, and money thus paid, in any one year, shall not exceed one hundred dollars ; and the said Corporation, having appointed Doctors Holyoke, Lloyd, Tufts, Danforth, senr. Rand, senr. Fisher, Warren, senr. Waterhouse and Dexter, be a Committee to propound the qustions abovementioned and to carry into effect Mr. Boylston's benevolent purpose, they do hereby propose the following Questions to all who cultivate Medicine or the Sciences connected with it, and do invite their attention to a discussion of the several subjects here laid before them.

QUESTIONS.

1. How does air act upon or influence animal bodies in originating, and continuing reſpiration, maintaining organic motion, and preſerving the exerciſe of the vital functions ?

2. What are the cauſes, the nature, and cure of the autumnal diſeaſes of Infants, as prevailing in the New England States ?

3. Do any anatomical facts or diſcoveries explain the nature of Tetanus or Locked Jaw ? When the ſpaſm ariſes from an injured nerve, in what way is the nerve affected ? Or, does Tetanus depend rather on the exiſting ſtate of the ſyſtem than on the particular mode in which the wound is inflicted ? And if ſo, what is that ſtate of the ſyſtem moſt favorable to the production of Tetanus ?

Each Theſis or Diſſertation on either of these subjects, must be transmitted to Dr. E. A. Holyoke of Salem, on or before the 20th of November, 1803, and with it, a sealed ticket or packet, with some device or sentence on the outside, and within, the writer's name and designation ; the same device or sentence must be put on the Diſſertation it accompanies, and no Diſſertation can be received which has the writer's name affixed.

And this Committee do engage to deliver, agreeably to said Inſtrument, a gold Medal, of the value of 30 dollars, or its value in Money, at the option of the successful Candidate.

All unsuccessful Diſſertations shall be returned if desired, with the sealed packet or ticket unopened.

Signed, by order of the Committee.
E. A. HOLYOKE, Chairman.

Alexandria Advertiser.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 26.

On the ſubject of the preſent threatened invaſion of England—echoed and re-echoed through the whole phalanx of party, we heſitate not a moment to predict the fate of the French expedition—and let them hereafter mark our words.

Should Bonaparte evade the vigilance of Sir Sidney Smith, in the Britiſh Channel, a circumſtance that, at leaſt, hitherto his fate has refuſed ; ſhould he eſcape the dangers of the ſea, and once put his foot on the Britiſh ſhore, he there ends his reign of glory.

He will not there find a ſet of undiſciplined Mamelukes, or a body of beſotted Turks to receive him. He will not find Britons rallying round the ſtandard of equality, for that bubble Bonaparte himſelf has long ago burſt—but he will find himſelf "taking his meaſure in an unmade grave"—or pining in captivity among his incenſed enemy. On the other hand, when he adds England to his conquests, let his friends in America tell us, we did not read his fate.

Arrived ſchooner Commerce, Freeman Gardner maſter, 24 days from Barbadoes. Spoke ſchooner Betſey captain Swan, of New London, in lat. 29, long. 68, 12 days from Jamaica. The brig Nancy, captain Rumford, of Halifax, arrived at Barbadoes 27th July, and a large ſloop from Shelburne, name unknown.

Flour was 3 Joes—Pork 25 to 30—Beef 18 to 22 dollars—Iſland produce low at Demerara, 27 days ſince, and it was expected the Engliſh would ſoon get poſſeſſion of that iſland.

SUMMARY OF FOREIGN NEWS.

All English Bills of Exchange drawn on Hamburg and Bremen, have been protested, in consequence of the French interruption to the commerce of these places.

Count Cobentzel has been ordered to present a note to the French Government, relative to the invasion of Hamburg. The English Ambassador still remains at Vienna, and is treated with great kindness: he was to quit that citadel on leave: but his journey is for the present suspended. Considerable military preparations are making in Denmark, the frontiers of which are to be covered with troops. Telegraphs are now erecting along the coast. Accounts from Copenhagen mention that a general increase is about to be made in the army.

The report that the French insist on occupying all the Neapolitan ports, is fully confirmed by letters received at Vienna, from Naples. In consequence of this measure a great activity prevails in the correspondence between the Neapolitan Government and the Imperial Court, which, on its part, sends frequent couriers to Petersburgh.

The Prussian Minister at Hamburg has given positive assurances on the part of the French Government, that the neutrality of the Hanse Towns shall be respected. The Hamburghers therefore expect the French troops to remove from Ruzebuttel.

The Porte has sent a large fleet to the Archipelago and the Mediterranean, to protect its neutrality.

The order for suspending the assembling an army at Deventer, has been countermanded; and troops were marching thither with all expedition.

According to letters from Florence, all the English merchants in that country have been obliged to give their parole of honor not to quit it.

Accounts from Verona, of the 7th instant, say, the French army of Italy has entered the Roman State. The left wing commanded by General St. Cyr, arrived at Ancona on the 4th inst. It will proceed towards Abrozzo, and occupy the Neapolitan ports on the Adriotic; another division will advance along the Western shores to occupy the Neapolitan ports on the Mediterranean.

Letters from Bayonne, of the 12th announce the arrival of several Spanish ships at Cadiz, Corunna, and St. Andero, with 12,000,000 dollars on board.

A contribution of eight millions has been imposed on the Electorate of Hanover.—Of this sum there has already been paid 80,000 crowns.

A letter from Holland says, that 20,000 passes have been delivered this last fortnight for America, Russia, Denmark and Sweden; and 5,000 more demanded, which want of time prevented them to expedite.

The London Gazette contains an order in council for prohibiting the exportation and allowing the importation of corn, provisions, &c. till the 30th of September next. Naval stores are prohibited for six months longer from being exported.

Several encampments are ordered to be formed in England, along the coast. —The French appear to be meditating the invasion of Jersey and Guernsey: which places have been considerably reinforced.

The Chief Consul was saluted with a little thunder while at Boulogne; as one of our men of war lay to off that place, and fired several shots into it.

On Thursday afternoon it was understood by our cruizers, that Bonaparte had reached Calais; and a frigate, supposed to be the Immortalite, with Sir Sidney Smith on board, ran close in, taking soundings all the way, and at length got near enough to throw several shot into the town.

Bonaparte was expected to leave Calais on Saturday at noon for Gravelines, and to proceed from thence to Denkirk. The Chief Consul is closely attended by his Mamelukes.

(London paper.)

DOMESTIC SUMMARY.

Upwards of one hundred mercantile removals are advertised in one paper only in New York.

The Committee of health there, on Friday last reported nine deaths and sixteen new cases, in the prevailing Fever.

River Monocasy—Mr. Leonard Harbaugh has engaged to remove all impediment from the Monocasy, so as to render it navigable for boats of 100 barrels burthen, to a considerable distance above Federick-town. It is said that the work will be nearly completed by October or November.

A Commission of 3 Americans has been nominated by our ministers at Paris to liquidate the debts due by France to the citizens of the United States. This Commission is composed of Mr. Barnett, Commercial Agent for the port of Antwerp; Mr. Maclure, of Maryland; and Col. Mercer of Virginia.

Capt. Bates, arrived at Gloucester, from Jamaica, which place he left the 19th July, informs us, that the Island was considered in a very alarming state; as the people of colour were very much disaffected—a plot had lately been discovered, the object of which was to destroy the town of Spanish, and massacree all the whites.

(Boston paper.)

A letter from Port au Prince of the 25th of July, mentions the recent capture of two American vessels by the brigand barges in the Bite: one of them the schr. Betsey, capt. Grant from Norfolk; the other a brig from New York.

(Charlston pap)

By a letter from Montreal, dated the 5th instant, we learn, there have been three fires in that town within a few days of each other. The last was an extensive one. A great deal of property was destroyed, and several lives lost in it. It is supposed, they were all the act of a wicked incendiary; great pains were taken to guard the town against a repetition of them.

Sixteen French families, lately settled at Calais and its vicinity, weary of the liberty and equality, which their country held out to them, and being moreover apprehensive of the dreadful consequences that the threatened war might bring upon them, in their native land, still in a state of revolution, have very wisely come over to this country, having previously converted their land and other property into hard cash.

THE THEATRE.

THE 63d LETTER.—Now as our alphabet contains twenty four letters, only it may be expected that we should account for a sixty third. The entertainment is replete with equivoke, and the incidents thereby produced are truly laughable.

Sir Wilful Positive, whose name is a clue to his character, has a sister who is entirely devoted to the present female rage of Novel Writing, and which is very offensive to the brother. The sixty third letter of the lady's new Novel, is found by Sir Wilful, who, hoping to put an end to the scribbling mania of his sister, throws it out of the window, first tearing off the first line. The letter is found by Patrick Casey, who, as Sir Wilful calls him, is "an arrant bog trotter," yet he has vanity enough to suppose it was a lure thrown to him by the young lady, and immediately determines on putting in practice the plot of the Novel, and hence arises many curious circumstances and droll situations.

Sir Wilful is further plagued with a musical footman, named Dulcet, who instead of attending his master, is ever humming tunes, and reading ballads—answering questions by a tune from one of them, nor can any thing stop his melody. While attending with wine, a fiddle is heard, and sweet Dulcet strikes up a dance, with waiter, glasses and decanter in hand, which are soon broke by his capering.

This is a character well conceived and most admirably performed by Bernard.—He kept the audience in a roar of laughter.

Mr. Hopkins is not so well in a young Irish Clown as when representing the petulent old man—in these characters we observe a deficiency, whenever they are brought forward, not one of the company having the true brogue.

M'Kenzie on the other hand hit off the petulence and folly of Sir Wilful to a nicety. We never saw a scene better performed, than that between him, Sydney, and Dulcet—it was truly laughable.

Mrs. Bernard managed the character of the "Novel maker" with effect, & Mrs. Hopkins warbled the notes of Lydia charmingly.

Anecdote of Washington.

An officer said one day at Head Quarters—that, in his opinion, a field of battle called for valour, not virtue.

"There is no call Sir," replied Washington, "prior to that of virtue; none of comparable magnitude and importance.—By fighting we serve our country—by virtue, we serve him who made us, we serve mankind, we serve ourselves, and even we serve our country the better in the article of virtue. For how a man can fight in a bad cause, and under a guilty conscience, I do not know. Under such circumstances I think I should be the veriest coward alive; but give me the happiness to live and to fight, so as to have God on my side, and I hope I shall never know fear."

This is near a kin to a noble sentiment of a great Captain of former ages.

"I fear my God, O Abner, and know no other fear."

For the Alexandria Advertiser.

THE SHOWMAN.

NUMBER III.

I shall now present you with the sight of a fleet at sea, on a most extraordinary expedition. It is the fleet of the greatest pirate upon earth, making war upon the greatest, but the least resisting land, in the known world.

There you see six ships of war belonging to that redoubted hero, the Dey of Algiers—and by the pull of my string, I again shew you a superior fleet of that great nation, upon whom he is preying, decaying in Dry Docks, or œconomising in harbours, at a few thousand miles distance from the barbarians. Now see the greatest man there, in a great bustle—relaunching his fettered men of war, and ordering them to chastise the robbers—which will take only six months in doing.

But, I will now shew you a much readier way to build and equip a fleet, than that of repairing ships out of dry docks—taken from the very words of the great man himself:

"For either of these purposes the sea is the field on which we should meet an European enemy; on that element it is necessary we should possess some power, it will be enough if we enable ourselves to prevent insults from those nations of Europe, which are weak on the sea, because circumstances exist which render even the stronger ones weak to us: the dangers to which the element expose them are too well known; they can attack us by detachment only, and it will suffice to make ourselves equal to what they may detach. Even a smaller force than they may detach will be rendered equal or superior by the quickness which any check may be repaired with us, while losses with them will be impairable 'till too late; a small naval force then is sufficient for us and a small one is necessary.

Suppose the million of dollars, or 300,000l. which Virginia could annually spare, without distress, to be applied to the creating of a navy. A single year's contribution would build, equip, man, and send to sea a force which should carry 300 guns. The rest of the confederacy exerting themselves in the same proportion would equip in the same time 1500 guns more. So that one year's contributions would set up a navy of 1800 guns. The British ships of the line average 76 guns, their frigates 35. 1800 guns then, would form a fleet of 30 ships, 18 of which might be of the line, and 12 frigates; allowing 8 men, the British average, for every gun, their annual expence, including subsistence, cloathing, pay and ordinary repairs would be about 1280 dollars for every gun, or 2,304,000 dollars for the whole. I state this only as one years possible exertion. All by computation!"

NOTES ON VIRGINIA.

TOM PAINE

Is still in Bordentown. We are informed he travels about the country and attends all the democratic meetings. He seems to be willing to take every opportunity for propogating his infidel principles, by introducing them in questions to the people as he meets them on the highways or at their several employments. Tom is a great lover of liberty, but like most other democrats, it is the liberty of doing as he pleases. Some boys, a few days since, whom Tom was passing at Bordentown, took the liberty of saying something he did not like. Tom returned the compliment by taking the liberty of going home for a cane. When he returned, the liberty boys had decamped; but Tom took the liberty of beating in their stead, a poor orphan child who had not taken the liberty of opening his mouth against him—Pity but the fatherless boy was a 'senior editor;' what a stir would be made among us?

As there is not in free states so powerful an instrument as the press, its effects, if not balanced by wisdom almost more than human, must be highly dangerous. That it should be under some controul and that some limits should be prescribed to its operations, will hardly be denied: Yet here too, in prescribing those bounds, lies danger of another kind—the danger of crippling and unfitting it for the guardianship of the country's freedom. Doctor JOHNSON, animadverting upon this subject, says, with his accustomed force and accuracy, "The danger of such unbounded liberty, and the danger of bounding it, have produced a problem in the science of government, which human understanding seems to solve." The Doctor, though a stern advocate for power and government, was among the most wise, and most virtuous of mankind. He would not therefore like to see a something, we cannot call it law, but a sort of erratic system, which secured to one party complete protection from the licentiousness of the press, and left the other wholly at the mercy of it. He would indeed be afflicted to see such a thing, even though the party so favoured should be that of the executive government.

A VALUABLE MILL FOR SALE.

THE ſubſcriber wiſhes to ſell his MILL, known by the name of Clifton Mill, within two and an half miles of Dumfries, on the waters of Quantico, which is as conſtant a ſtream as any in this part of the country, and in an exceeding healthy ſituation; very conveniently ſituated to a fine wheat country, not being more than half a mile out of the way, in going to Dumfries, from the main road leading from Fauquier Court-Houſe, Centerville &c. (and by ſome thought not any out of the way at all) and a very good road to it. There are, if the purchaſer chooſes, 227¼ acres of land which may go with mill, (except one acre which will be reſerved) or a ſmaller quantity as may be agreed on. The mill is an over-ſhot, with a wheel of 20 feet 9 inches and 4 feet head, with two pair of Stones. One pair of French burrs of 5 feet, the other of Cologne, with every apparatus neceſſary for carrying on merchant buſineſs to the beſt advantage. The mill houſe is fifty feet long and twenty ſeven feet wide, two ſtories high, with a ſmall kiln for drying corn, together with barn, ſtable, cow houſe and lumber houſe, convenient to the mill. A convenient dwelling houſe, (not quite finiſhed) with a kitchen, meat and corn houſe; the whole of which have been built within 7 years paſt. There are two very thriving young orchards of peach and other fruit trees. It was ſuppoſed, had not the froſt killed the fruit this ſpring, upwards af 100 gallons of brandy might have been made from them. Should the whole of the land be required with the mill, there is another ſmall houſe, kitchen and meat houſe, at a ſhort diſtance from the former.

The ſituation of this property muſt render it a deſirable acquiſition to any perſon inclined to engage in this line of buſineſs, particularly ſo as it is ſituated ſo near tide water. It is deemed unneceſſary to ſay any thing more reſpecting the premiſes, as it is preſumed any perſon inclined to purchaſe would wiſh to ſee them. Nothing would induce me to part with this valuable property, but the preſſing demands againſt me which I am anxious to diſcharge, therefore a great bargain may be expected, Any further information may be known on application to,
